"BCOC is proud to partner with organizations like Magellan Behavioral Health of Pennsylvania and the Bucks County government to fight hunger in our community. Right now, more than 64,000 Bucks County residents, approximately 1 in 10 adults and 1 in 9 children, face food insecurity. That's why, through our network of more than 75 food pantries and distribution sites, we're working every day to make sure families have reliable access to the food they need. Support from efforts like the Bucks-Mont Food Drive is critical to this work and plays a vital role in helping us reach our neighbors with care and dignity by providing the food and resources they need," says Elizabeth Zbinden, food program manager at Bucks County Opportunity Council.

Shannon Isaacs, executive director for the MontCo Anti-Hunger Network, commented, "Magellan's annual food drive support through their incredible philanthropic effort helps our network of over 77 organizations to help some of the most vulnerable people in Montgomery County. This important leadership from Magellan in collaboration with Montgomery County and Bucks County truly helps address food insecurity."
