Free Virtual Training on September 15 - Overview of Screening Tools & Clinical Use

This workshop is a skill-building opportunity designed to enhance staff knowledge, confidence, and clinical application of screening tools across care settings. The training will focus on increasing understanding of the value of screening and assessment, and how these tools support early identification, clinical decision-making, and patient safety.

This training will be offered as part of a quarterly series on risk assessment and suicide prevention. There is no prerequisite to attend any of the sessions.
