

Our report to the community highlights local success stories across Pennsylvania

A message from Jim Leonard, CEO, Magellan Behavioral Health of Pennsylvania, Inc.

In September, we completed our most recent Report to the Community. The purpose of this project was to show the positive impact that Magellan, our county partners and many community stakeholders are having in the communities we serve around our care management centers located in Bethlehem, Johnstown and Newtown. We are pleased to highlight significant outcomes, reinvestment funding successes, successful conferences, personal testimonials and the community-focused culture that exists among our staff across the state.

Our key areas of focus

Our Pennsylvania team is keenly focused on the following areas:

- The opioid epidemic in Pennsylvania communities
- Value-based reimbursement models
- Pioneering integrated health
- Supporting transition-age youth and young adults

Within the Report to the Community, we highlight our combined recent successes around these areas. We look forward to building on our collective results together with the county officials and local stakeholders that share our enthusiasm to produce impactful results.

Video testimonials

We chose to create eight video testimonials to complement this Report to the Community to offer a more personal account from local and unique perspectives. These videos comprise local leaders representing county government, the behavioral health and drug and alcohol systems, our network of providers, community stakeholders and our members. We sincerely appreciate each of these individuals who chose to participate in this project.

Availability of the Report to the Community

Our report, along with the video testimonials, are available on our website. I encourage you to review this information and share the website with friends and colleagues.
